Martin Luther King, Jr. Exhibition Feb. 13

Together with the Office of Equal Opportunity Programs, Penn Talent Search invites participants, community, and family members to our Fourth Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Exhibition on Friday, February 13 at 4:30 p.m.

This year's theme is Unarmed Truth and Unconditional Love, drawn from a line in Dr. King's December 1964 Nobel Peace Prize acceptance speech: "I believe that unarmed truth and unconditional love will have the final word in reality."

Join us in Irvine Auditorium's Cafe 58 (3401 Spruce Street) as a select group of young writers showcases their poetry honoring Dr. King and his legacy. Refreshments will be served.

A graphic for a College Corner Scholarships webinar. At the top, a laptop screen shows a video call between two young women; one is wearing a red shirt and the other a blue shirt. The background is pink and decorated with various school-related icons: a diploma labeled 'GRADUATE', a rolled-up diploma, a laptop, an open book, a graduation cap, a starburst, and a folder. Below the laptop, the text 'COLLEGE CORNER' is written in large, bold, blue letters, with 'SCHOLARSHIPS' in smaller blue letters underneath. Below that, the date and time 'Wednesday, February 11, 6-7pm' are displayed in white. A list of topics follows: 'School vs. outside scholarships', 'How to win a scholarship', and 'How scholarships affect financial aid packages'. A blue button with white text says 'Zoom link on Canvas!'. In the bottom right corner is the Penn University of Pennsylvania Talent Search logo.

College Corner meets on select Wednesdays from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. Though sessions are geared toward helping 12th graders accomplish their college application goals, younger students are welcome to join for a preview of what's next.

Black History Month Events in Philadelphia

Did you know that 2026 marks the 100th anniversary of Black History Month? The theme for this year's celebration is "A Century of Black History Commemorations." Click here to learn more about the origins of Black History Month and why it's celebrated during the month of February.

Saturday, February 7

Please Touch Museum: Black History Celebration

Explore immersive, hands-on workshops celebrating Black changemakers past and present — from inventing and dancing to designing and drumming.

Pennsylvania Convention Center: 34th Annual African American Children's Book Fair

Meet the creators of some of the best children's books of our generation. The book fair will feature appearances by celebrated authors and illustrators including Derrick Barnes, Vanessa Brantley-Newton, Bryan Collier, Rita Williams Garcia, Nikki Grimes, EB Lewis, Kadir Nelson, and more!

Founder's Hall at Girard College: Black History Month Open House

In honor of Black History Month, join us at our February Open House as we highlight the history of the desegregation of Girard College. Learn about the three generations of Black Philadelphia activists who fought from the 19th century until 1968 for this change, from Nathan Mossel to Raymond and Sadie Alexander to Cecil B. Moore and the Freedom Fighters. Explore the legacy of the the pioneering Girard students of color and the ongoing work of the school today.

Museum of the American Revolution: "It Begins with Each of Us: Fostering Racial Understanding" Forum

Using the nation's 250th anniversary as an opportunity for both remembering the past and preparing for the future, presenters will explore examples of African American contributions to the United States throughout its history, through the lens of the historic sites that preserve these stories, as well as research-based recommendations for more deeply engaging young adults, especially Generation Z, in the civic life of the nation as we work together to create the future.

Saturday, February 14

Joseph E. Coleman Northwest Regional Library: Leon Jordan, Jr. Quintet Concert

Join us for Black History Revisited, a musical celebration of Black American history and culture in honor of Black History Month. This program is sponsored by the Library, and the Musicians Union (Local 77). For all ages.

Saturday, February 21

Mural Arts: Black History Month Civic Heroes Trolley Tour

Join us for a special trolley tour featuring murals that represent iconic Black figures, civic heroes, and insightful social justice issues. A professional tour guide will take guests through Philadelphia neighborhoods to view these stunning and impactful murals, hear the stories behind each work of art, and learn about the artists as well as the mural-making process.

Sunday, February 22

Historical Society of Philadelphia: A Century of Black History Commemoration

Join the Philadelphia Heritage and the Association for the Study of African American Life and History for a public program to commemorate the history, legacy, and preservation of ASALH and its founder, Carter G. Woodson. Featuring a talk with historian Dr. Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, a reading of the 2026 Black History Month proclamation, and more, this program kicks off a year of celebration of the founder's enduring work to preserve and educate the public on Black history.

Friday, February 27

Oak Lane Library: Renaissance Orchestra Jazz Concert

Jazz is back at the Oak Lane Library! In celebration of Black History Month, the Friends of the Oak Lane Library are hosting the Renaissance Orchestra for an all ages, after-hours show. Space will be limited so please arrive early - the doors will open at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday, February 28

Laurel Hill West Cemetery: Black Trailblazers Walking Tour

Join us for a walking tour through Laurel Hill West where resilience, artistry, activism, and quiet heroism rest side by side. Together, we'll honor the lives of Black Philadelphians whose legacies echo far beyond their headstones — trailblazers who carved paths through adversity and left indelible marks on the city's history. It's a tour of remembrance, reflection, and connection.

Advocate for Talent Search and Other TRIO Programs

Did you know that Penn Talent Search is a federal TRIO program?

TRIO programs operate in all 50 states, Washington, D.C., the Pacific Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Collectively, more than 3,400 TRIO programs nationwide help nearly one million students enter and graduate from college each year.

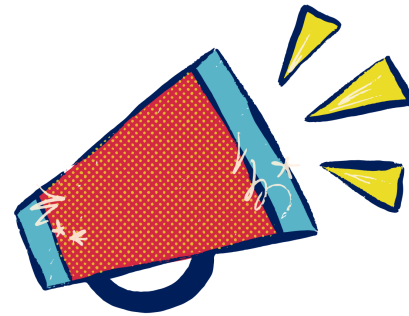

Penn Talent Search alone serves 583 students in Philadelphia.

Recently, the White House issued a budget proposal that would eliminate all TRIO programs in the coming year. Across the country, TRIO students could lose access to the academic advising, career guidance, and personal support that make success possible for so many first-generation and low-income students.

Policymakers in Congress need to hear from YOU — the TRIO students, parents, and families — about the importance of protecting Talent Search and other programs, so we can continue to support every one of our participants along their educational journey!

Use this link to contact your senators and representative asking for continued support for federal TRIO programs.

Thank you for being a TRIO advocate!
